These animals were all grass-fed with the exception of a few bushels of roots given to Mr. Marsh's steer during the last winter. The oxen of Mr. Allen have performed the labor of his farm up to this time.

It is to be regretted that gentlemen appointed on committees are not on the ground to perform the duties assigned to them. Of the seven members of the committee originally appointed, four were absent, including the chairman.

The services of gentlemen skilled in the department were added to the board and the committee thus constituted, your chairman can assure the Society that their skill and judgment are confidently to be relied upon.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT ON STALLIONS.

The Committee on Stallions respectfully submit the following report: that in the discharge of their duty they found ten entries, one of which was for exhibition only. Six of these entries were for Stallions not less than four years of age, owned in the county six months preceding the Show.

The Committee were unanimous in awarding the first premium to Geo. S. Howe, of Worcester, for his chestnut horse, 5 years old, Ethan Allen and English Breed.

For the second premium of $15, they were also unanimous in giving it to John Brooks of Princeton, for his black horse, 4 years old, Messenger and Flying Childers breed.

The Committee wish to make favorable mention of the horse of Mr. Bigelow, of West Boylston. His owner would probably have received a premium, but failed to comply with the rules of the Committee.

The Committee regret that there were no entries of Stallions over three and under four years of age.

For the best Stallion over two and under three years of age, the Committee adjudge both premiums to Mr. Brooks of Princeton; the 1st of $10 for his Patchen and E. Allen, and the 2d of $6, for his Messenger and Flying Childers.

Putnam, Grafton.

Double teams, 1st premium to H. S. Stockwell, Sutton,

“ “ 2d “ C. J. C. Beaman, Westborough,

“ “ 3d “ D. W. Wheelock, Worcester.

The thanks of this society are due to S. E. Bates, of Barre, and Geo. Dodge, of Sutton, but the plow which they used, (Cylinder,
No. 2,) though very good for shallow plowing, is not adapted to so deep work as the Society requires.

To Horse teams, 1st premium to R. M. Oaks, Millbury,

“ “ 2d “ S. Carpenter, Charlton,

“ “ 3d “ A. Pratt, Worcester.

If in trade, the old adage is true that “a thing well bought is half sold,” it is equally true that land thoroughly plowed, is half tilled, and the cost of cultivating hoed crops, depends much upon the manner in which the land is plowed. The particular attention of farmers is called to the double swivel plow, which as a pulverizer of soil, fitting it for all kinds of seeds, cannot be excelled.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF ARRANGEMENTS.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE WORCESTER AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY :

The undersigned, chairman of the Committee of Arrangements for 1864, respectfully submits the following report of the doings of the Committee.

There is believed to be no rule, or law, or practice in the Society, which requires this report to be made in writing. The predecessor of the undersigned, it is remembered, made at the close of his term of office, a verbal report, in brief, of the doings of the Committee, which was accepted, nor was it claimed at that time, that said report should be made in writing. As, however, a desire has been expressed that a written report be furnished of the doings of the past year, the undersigned cheerfully complies with that desire, as a matter of courtesy however, and not of right.

The undersigned takes this occasion to express his sense of obligation to his associates, the Secretary and Chairman of the Committee on Grounds, for their hearty and zealous co-operation in all measures undertaken for the good of the Society during the past year. Between these officers and himself, there has always been complete and perfect harmony of action. Constituting by immemorial custom the executive force of the Society and Trustees, their officers and the undersigned have found themselves in unison of opinion and action on every question of policy which has come before them for consideration and decision.

The result of the annual Exhibition, regarded solely with reference to its character, is before the Trustees and need not be commented upon in detail. While it does not become the undersigned to extol its merit, truth and justice require the admission by him, that in the opinion of the enlightened public, it was inferior to none ever held by the Society. Its attractions proved adequate to overcome the disadvantages of uncertain weather, and the attendance on both days was most gratifying. The undersigned would especially tender his thanks in behalf of the Committee, to Ex-Governor Lincoln, for the ready courtesy with which he placed at their disposal a lot of land for ploughing, in the closest proximity to the show grounds, thereby preventing the necessity of removing the most interesting feature of the show to a distant locality. Nor would it be right to pass by without notice the great interest added to the Exhibition by the liberal donations of Wm. Eames, by which the exhibition of working cattle was rendered superior to anything ever before seen in this Society, or, it is said, in any Society in the Commonwealth. The enjoyment of the first day was still further heightened by the presence at the dinner, of Ex-President Lincoln, who, though suffering from wounds and debility, yet consented rather than disappoint the earnest wish of the Committee, to prepare and deliver a valuable and instructive address on the Agriculture and Civilization of Virginia.

The weather on the second day promised unfavorably, and the attendance in the morning was small. The undersigned had, at some pains on which it does not become him to speak at length, secured the presence from remote points of several celebrated horses, and caused notice that they would give an exhibition in the afternoon to be extensively circulated in the city. The result was satisfactory beyond expectation. Though the day was lowering with imminent prospect of heavy showers, the amount received at the gate was $1,315, of which all but about $100 was taken in the afternoon, the attendance in the morning having mostly consisted of members of the Society. It is probably a reasonable estimate to say that the Society saved $1,200 from the exhibition on the afternoon of the second day.

As a consequence of this success, the Society was enabled to pay six months interest which had been unpaid at the close of the preceding year and its interest for the year 1864, to pay all its large award of premiums, all the expenses of a creditable and honorable exhibition, to place its grounds in the most perfect condition, and leave a balance in the Treasury after all these payments, of upwards of $400.

But the question has been asked, in what spirit and with what motives it does not become the undersigned to inquire, (though he has a definite opinion on the subject,) on whose responsibility and by whose authority the offer of premiums for objects not contemplated by the Trustees was made. The undersigned to answer the inquiry will here state that it was done on his own responsibility, and afterwards approved by several of the members of the committee, among whom was Hon. D. Waldo Lincoln; therefore he has no apology to make to any one for the action, either as to his motives or its success. The undersigned has never doubted and does not now doubt the authority of the person or persons to whom the Trustees have conferred the charge of their exhibition to make any reasonable appropriation, under the head of expense for any object which in the exercise of his judgment he believes will be for the good of the Society. The opinion of the undersigned is clear that the chairman of the Committee of Arrangements holds his place for the express purpose of taking responsibility, and that, in this, as in every other executive office, the man who hesitates to take the responsibility belonging to his office must fail.

For the information of the curious and to silence all, it may be well enough to explain how great an exercise of authority was assumed in the present instance. The Society had appropriated fifty dollars for exhibition for trial of speed; a subscription was obtained from liberal citizens amounting to sixty-five dollars, and there were received for entries for the different prizes seventy-one dollars. The total amount of premiums given to this class was $225, so that the amount of the Society's money that the undersigned took the responsibility of offering for these premiums, was thirty-nine dollars. The detail of premiums in this class was drawn up by the Secretary in co-operation with the undersigned, and, though not necessary, it may be as well to state that it was agreed at the time between these two officers, that, should for any reason the exhibition prove a failure, the amount of thirty-nine dollars should be paid by themselves and not charged to the Society. After the result of the offer was made apparent, they did not think their duty required them to pay the thirty-nine dollars.

The undersigned has made this somewhat extended report, not with a view to claim merit for himself for those acting with him, but knowing that in almost every Society there are those who studiously disparage every success of which they are not themselves the authors, and that disappointed candidates for premiums seek their remedy by disparaging the executive officers, he deemed that truth and fair dealing required this exposition.

GENERAL RULES.

Competitors for premiums of every description will be held to rigid compliance with the foregoing rules, as well as to such rules and regulations as shall be adopted by the respective Committees on Premiums, and the Committee of Arrangements for the occasion. If any competitor for any of the Society's premiums shall be discovered to have used any disingenuous measures, by which the object of the Society has been defeated, or attempted to be defeated, such person shall not only forfeit the premiums which have been awarded, but be rendered incapable of being ever after a competitor for any of the Society's premiums.

In all cases the several committees are directed to make no awards of premiums unless the animal or article is of a superior quality and value.

All gratuities recommended by the several committees to persons who shall exhibit articles or animals of excellence and utility, deserving encouragement, and for which no particular premium is offered, will be distributed in books on Agriculture.

From premiums awarded there will be discounted 25 per cent. in the payment to those persons who, at the time, are not members of the Society; and no premium will be awarded for any animal or article to any person who, at the time, is not the owner; nor for any manufactured articles, unless they were manufactured in the county; and no premium
